

Teresa Kimbrell

Teresa Kimbrell has served with distinction for many years in Zambia, Africa in numerous roles and capacities.

I serve in Zambia, Africa in various capacities. At Berea Theological University College, I have been involved in seminars, women's and children's ministry as well as preaching and church planting. I also have served as needed with visitors to our area, administrative duties, facilitating remodeling projects, and as a member of the board at Berea.

My most memorable moment is watching those who have attended training sessions go and put that training into practice. Other memories include: experiencing the excitement of those who are trained, experiencing a grandmother putting shoes on her feet for the very first time in her life, experiencing the organizing of housing and food for children and their care, watching them go from deficiencies to health and then lining up for a hug, and experiencing God ministering to a tangible need through His Word that He spoke through you.

I became a missionary because God called me. God planted the seeds and opened the doors all through my life for each stage and place of ministry.

My desire is to reach the Harvest with the love of God, encourage faithfulness in believers, and train others to reach the Harvest.

Categories: Missionaries, Missionaries - Africa